
Whole House Remodeling

Have you considered moving only to discover how much you love your existing neighborhood and a whole house remodel just might do the trick? Home renovation is a great alternative for families that have outgrown their home or desire an upgrade but don't want to move. Since 1976, Gridley California Bay Area community clients have come to trust Gridley with the design and completion of whole house remodel projects.

Home Renovation Considerations

With Gridley at your side, your home renovation project is limited only by your imagination. Our house remodel design team and tools can unlock the potential of your home's existing footprint, taking zoning requirements and limited budgets into consideration. We get to know you, your family and how you live so that we can take incorporate your daily activities into the design of your home remodeling project.

From Home Remodeling Design to Completed Project

Should you stay or should you go during the house remodel phase? It depends on the scope of the project. For complete house remodels, we work with you to incorporate a rental of a nearby apartment as part of the budget. For smaller scale projects, our team will work around your schedule and respect the fact that you are living on-site. Like all Gridley projects, we provide you with one point of contact throughout the construction phase and all of our work includes a Gridley Company Limited 2 Year Warranty.
